

NORTHWEST ASTHMA & ALLERGY CENTER

April 2022

Dear Patients and Families:

It is with a heavy heart that I will be saying goodbye to my patients and Northwest Asthma & Allergy Center (NAAC) family this mid-July.

As some of you may know, my wife is active-duty military, and she is being moved to Langley Air Force Base in Virginia. While incredibly proud of her service, this is also a sad time as I am especially grateful to everyone at our practice for welcoming me after I completed my fellowship.

My wife and I have loved our time in the Pacific Northwest, and we have developed many lasting friendships here. We hope to return one day if we are able.

I firmly believe that NAAC is an amazing practice to work in and for and hope to be welcomed back in the future. I have loved my time both in training and joining this practice.

I am excited to welcome our new NAAC physicians into the practice this year. I know that my patients will continue to be provided the best possible care by our excellent providers and are in amazing hands.

Sincerely,

Clint Dunn, MD
